In April, Spreading the Message that #HomelsTheKey

At Habitat for Humanity, we believe that home is the foundation for our lives, and it should provide an atmosphere of contentment and calm where individuals can thrive. Yet for many families in the United States, the concept of home seems out of reach.

Throughout the month of April, Habitat for Humanity's #HomelsTheKey campaign brings people together to build greater access to affordable housing. And we can't do it without you! Together, we hope to create an outpouring of generosity. We hope to see the doors of opportunity open in partnership with people in search of strength, stability, and self-reliance.

How can you get involved? Shop with our key partners or visit the Flatirons Habitat for Humanity ReStore to help unlock somebody's future.

Volunteer Highlights

This awesome team of NCCC drove some major progress at our Violet Hollow remodel. With a freshly painted exterior, this Habitat home originally built in the 90s is looking great. Thanks again to these hard-working volunteers for lending us their helping hands.

A group of volunteers from the Habitat for Humanity CU Campus Chapter spent their Spring Break in Florida working hard for Flagler Habitat for Humanity. By the end of the week, this dedicated group had made major progress on two of Flagler Habitat's builds.

Featured Partner: Thrivent Financial

For years, Thrivent Financial has partnered with Flatirons Habitat to broaden access to safe, decent, and affordable housing in Boulder and Broomfield counties. Check out our first Featured Partner post of 2018 to learn more about Thrivent's generous support and see how you can get involved.
